

Youth for Equality and Participatory Democracy: A Guide for Leadership Training

Table of contents

Introduction

Part I: Concepts and methodology

1. The basic concepts:

- The concept of leadership
- The concept of human rights
- The concept of democracy
- The concept of non-discrimination and equality
- The concept of participation
- The relationship between leadership and participation

2. Methodology:

- Basic principles on training on leadership
- Methodology for training on leadership

Part II: the workshops

Area I: Self-empowerment for leadership

- Exercise 1: representations on the concept of leadership
- Exercise 2: Iqbal Ali, the fight of a child against slavery
- Exercise 3: Iqbal Ali "Chosen Woman of the Year" in spite of traditions
- Exercise 4: The Tree
- Exercise 5: How can I be a leader?
- Exercise 6: Leadership, why?
- Exercise 7: Back to the concept of leadership

Area II: Communicate with the others for leadership

- Exercise 1: Me and the others
- Exercise 2: Empathy and prejudices
- Exercise 3: Recognizing the other (otherness)
- Exercise 4: How to listen actively?
- Exercise 5: How can we communicate despite our differences?

Area III: The participatory action for a cause

- Exercise 1: Youth and participation
- Exercise 2: The scale of participation
- Exercise 3: Using technology to serve a cause

- Exercise 4: Practical Exercise "The use of technology in the service of a cause"
- Exercise 5: The story of The Fourteen Musicians
- Exercise 6: Action Plan: Networking
- Exercise 7: Closing activity: The flight of geese
- Final exercise: A preliminary activity to provide leadership in everyday life

Part III: Appendices

- Some facilitation techniques
- Techniques of ice breaking